

October 30, 2019

Your happy blogger in Rome, Italy

Long time since I have done any blogging I am afraid to say! Busy times plus I went on vacation for a bit. Now I am back and ready to get back into “Stillwaters Life”. So here is the latest blog.

Being gone in October, it seems like I bi-passed Fall and went right to Winter! Freezing nights and very crisp mornings have sent me digging into Winter clothing and putting an extra blanket on the bed. Just think, tomorrow is Halloween and before we know it, it will be Thanksgiving.

One topic I wanted to offer before the end of the month is the reminder to get Flu shots. Check with your doctor to make sure it is what is right for you and then take care of this soon as flu season is about to be upon us.

Lovely fall colors in Stillwaters

Here are some holiday happenings coming up:

Veterans Day, November 10, 2019 Veterans Day Parade in Chehalis. More information is found by clicking HERE which takes you to the Veteran's Memorial Museum website. Another very cool thing on their website is a virtual tour of the museum. This is a very thoughtful and well displayed museum. If you have not visited the museum check it out by clicking THIS to see a virtual tour.

Have a good week ahead and if you can, get out and enjoy the fall/winter weather!

Quote of the day:

